A screenshot of the "New Account" dialog box in MacOSX Mail. The dialog has a title bar with three window control buttons (red, yellow, green) and the text "New Account". The main content area is titled "General Information" and contains the following fields:

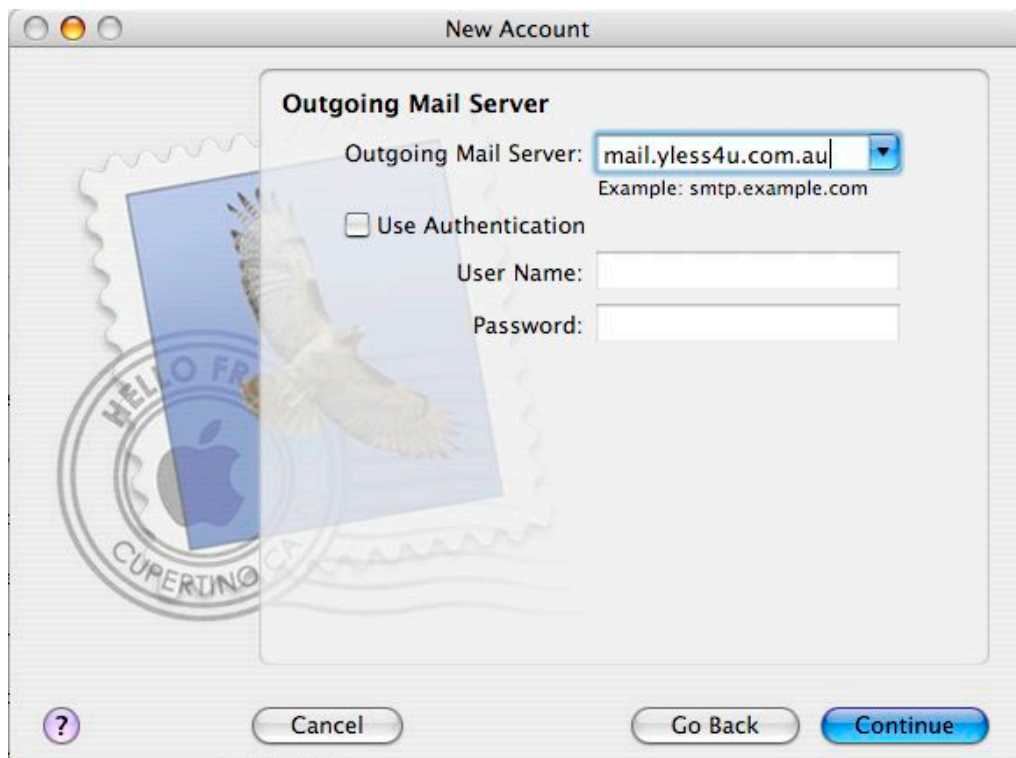

- Account Type: A dropdown menu showing "POP" with a globe icon and a blue arrow.
- Account Description: A text field containing "POP Account".
- Full Name: An empty text field with a blue border.
- Email Address: An empty text field with a blue border.

Fill in the Incoming Mail server, username and your password. Press continue

Fill in Outgoing server. Press continue

And that's it, you should see something like this:
